Question Corner

Do I need to backup my files everyday?

Depends on what you use your computer for... If your just a home user and upload the odd pictures from your camera and write a few word documents then NO just back up when you consider anything new on your computer is something of great importance to you! It takes 5 mins and usually one DVD to back up what you can't live without...REMEMBER Loss of data always happens when you don't expect it to. If you happen to lose data bring it in we can help. Email us your question and maybe we will put it here for the next newsletter. postmaster@xtremelan.ca
